Need to Know is a fundamental security principle! You, as the possessor of sensitive or classified information, must confirm who has a valid need to know for access to that information.